Effective 10/1/2016, the Massachusetts Property Insurance Underwriting Association (the Association) will be applying a cost index factor to its Homeowners and Dwelling Policy expiration notices. This cost index factor has been calculated by Marshal/Swift & Boeckh, the company which provides the tool the Association uses for determining the replacement cost of residential properties. This index reflects a one year building cost increase.

Increase factors are applied to policies based upon geographic region within the Commonwealth. Changes in coverages will be rounded to the nearest $1,000.
